Bethel-area voters generally followed their counterparts statewide in Tuesday's referendum election. Question 1, the so-called "people's veto," which would have overturned Maine's new law to protect the rights of gays and lesbians, was defeated here, as it was statewide, but the margin here was far narrower than the 55/45 percent margin projected for Maine as a whole. In fact, the measure passed in most of the area's towns, but was opposed by large margins in Bethel and Newry. Area voters also approved of four of the five bond proposals. They were opposed, however, to borrowing more money for higher education. As of press time Wednesday the fate of that bond statewide was still too close to call. Local and statewide voters also expressed strong support for allowing working waterfront property to be taxed on the basis of its current use, rather than its highest possible value.

Ken Bohr looks back on 17 years of Land Trust growth and 'saves'

By ALISON ALOISIO

In the 17 years that Ken Bohr served on the Mahoosuc Land Trust Board, the organization has protected a total of 1,500 acres of land in the Bethel area.

Bohr, 86, who recently retired from MLT, had been with the organization from the time it was formed.

In that time, MLT has grown from a fledgling group trying to figure out how to set up easements, to today's balanced organization that includes subgroups dealing with a variety of land preservation challenges.

"It's great to see it become something beyond anything I could conceive of," Bohr said.

History
MLT was established in 1988. Bohr and his wife, Gwyneth, had recently retired to Bethel from Virginia. "I was here,

'Ken's interest in research, and his amazing ability to interpret the results of that research to others, has been a primary force in the creation and growth of the land trust.'

unemployed," he said. "I wanted to work for something that means something."

The Land Trust fit the bill. Bohr gives credit for the organization's early momentum to Kirk Siegel and Marcel Polak. "Kirk dreamed this up. He was behind it. And Marcel. They were the two who made it go," said Bohr.

The new trust took its first step in preservation in 1989. With assistance from the Maine Coast Heritage Trust, MLT drafted an easement to preserve the 133-acre Williamson Tree farm in Newry.

Since then, the trust has compiled an impressive list of "saves," including: easements for the Scruton Tree farm in Upton, the Rich property on Songo Pond, the General Alger Farm in Woodstock, and the Maggie Ring property in Greenwood; purchase of the Gateway property in Bethel; and gifts of Hay Crossing on the Androscoggin in Bethel; Willis, Kendall and Philbrook

Businesses now can, and must, recycle computers

By ALISON ALOISIO

The Oxford County Solid Waste and Recycling Corp. center in Norway is now accepting universal waste, which includes such items as computer monitors and TVs, from businesses.

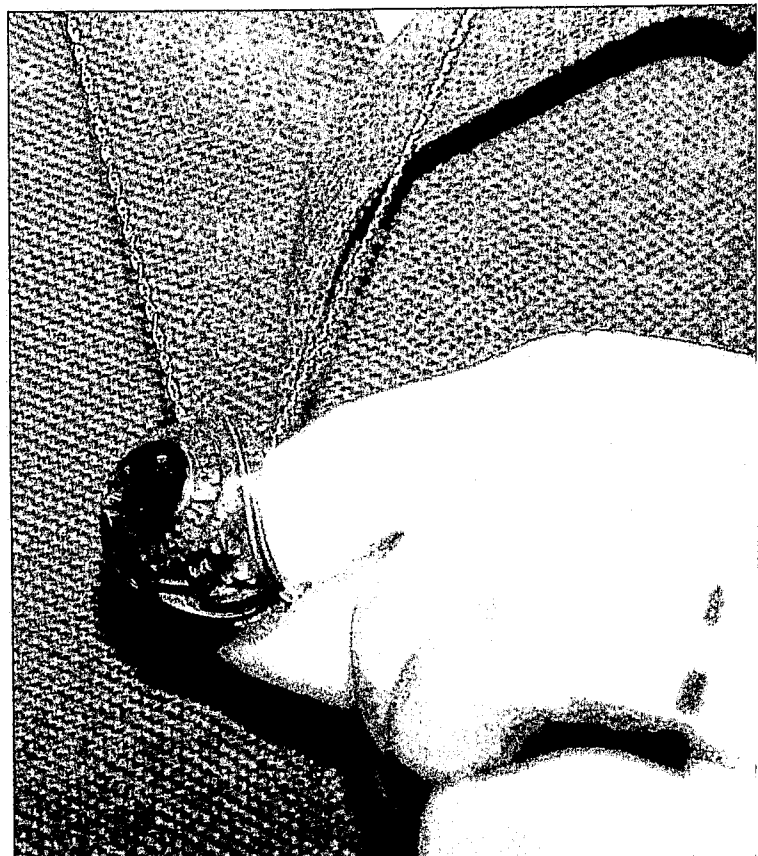

It is state law that businesses dispose of the waste in a responsible way, according to OCSWRC.

"Throwing computers, keyboards, printers, fluorescent lamps, televisions, mercury-containing devices, batteries, and PCB ballasts (found in old fluorescent lighting fixtures) into the dumpster with the regular trash is not a legal option," says an information sheet put out by OCSWRC.

Most universal waste items contain heavy metals, which are released into the air if broken or incinerated.

Businesses bringing items to the Norway center must pay a fee for each item to be recycled. The fees are less for member towns than they are for non-members (most Bethel area towns are members).

Items may be dropped off

After 35 years his Telstar ring returns from the underworld

By ALISON ALOISIO

In 1969, two men broke into Telstar Regional High School and went looking for "dope," in the words of Robert Jamison, one of the thieves.

Said Jamison in a later confession, "We looked around the school for things — dope mostly, in the nurse's office — we didn't find any dope."

"There was a safe in the office, a vault. We went through the ceiling and kicked a hole through the top of the vault. We got a couple of hundred dollars, school rings, five or six — I think that was it — then we went back to Portland. ... We threw the rings away about two miles from the school, on the road in front of the school."

But one ring was not thrown out the window. It happened to fit the finger of the friend of Jamison's partner the theft.

Police discovered later that two thieves were behind other break-ins in Maine and other states.

They were finally caught in Massachusetts, and the ring was confiscated.

Where the ring was in 35 years since then remains a mystery, but in late October

Bryant Pond woman says state has (finally) done swell by her well

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"My own nuclear plant" is how Janet Villacaro describes the new high-tech water-filtration system installed by the state in the basement of her Bryant Pond home.

Villacaro's previous water system was a bit simpler — a cistern connected to a gravity-fed water line, several hundred feet long, fed in turn by a spring next to Route 26 on Merrifield Hill.

The old system worked fine (though she opted to get her drinking water the popular roadside spring on the other side of Bryant Pond village). But the recent road reconstruction project on Merrifield Hill, brought an end to the arrangement.

"Before they started work on the road," Villacaro said, "the state man came to me and said, 'We're going to have to take your water supply.'"

In its place, the state paid to have a well drilled on Villacaro's property, but the water from the well turned out to be not only undrinkable, but bad that it was unusable virtually anything.

"It was terrible," Villacaro said. "It was turning everything brown, and if you tried

Bethel voters approve bridge work

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Bethel has opted for an affordable, if less than ideal, solution to the Rabbit Road bridge problem.

By a vote of 12-4, residents at a special Town Meeting Monday approved the selectmen's recommendation that $40,000 be spent to replace most of the current structure.

The amount of money will also pay for widening the bridge by five feet (to 25 feet) but it will not pay for realigning the structure.

A state inspection earlier this year found that three of the bridge's nine supporting beams were dangerously corroded.

The state recommended the town post the bridge to loads over three tons (which was done), and then either repair or replace it.

The bridge, over the Alder River, provides access to five residences on the southwest side of the river.

Much of Monday's discussion, like the selectmen's discussions that preceded it, focused on whether it made sense — given that the bridge needed extensive work — to realign the structure so that the intersection with Route 26 would be perpendicular.

The current intersection forms a 60/120 degree angle with Route 26 — a situation that resident Dick Littlefield regards as dangerous.

Littlefield argued for spending the additional money needed to square up the intersection.

He said Monday: "I think

A SUCCESS OF 'RUMORS'—The Gould Academy fall drama production, Neil Simon's comedy "Rumors," hit the stage on Nov. 3 and 5 in Gould's Bingham Auditorium. Both shows were sold out, and under the direction of teacher Kyra Fries, the drama students put on an impressive performance of a difficult play. A catastrophic bundle of misunderstandings and wacky personalities, "Rumors" kept the audience laughing from the first gunshot to the last. CHRISTMAS FOR FAMILIES TIME

To the Editor:

As hard as it is to believe we are once again approaching the holiday season and Christmas for Families volunteers are looking for your donations and help to make a Christmas something special for some that would otherwise have little or nothing. Christmas for Families tries to help as many children of all ages as well as their parents (in the SAD44 district). We know that this is a stressful time for all of us with the gas, oil and other prices going up.

With the help of the community we were able to assist 193 children in 61 families last year and we expect the need to be even greater this year.

There are a couple of ways you can help; one is to adopt a child or family. You let us know what size family or what age child you would like to adopt.

We do not give out names or addresses but we give you ages, sizes and anything else we have for information that might be important.

The other way is to donate money or buy a gift such as hat, mittens, books, toys, games, clothing or gift cards.

If you would like to adopt a family or donate to this project, please feel free to call Nina at 836-3600 or 836-3663 and leave a message. Please know that this is all in the strictest confidence, even those who get adopted. Also, you may drop things off or pick up an application at Rebel Restaurant, and the people there will take care of things.

We are also doing fundraisers such as selling calendars, a benefit bingo on Dec. 5 at 1 p.m., raffle and food sale at Jackson-Silver Post 68 in Locke Mills. Our goal is to complete this project by Dec. 16.

MISLEADING DISTORTIONS

To the Editor:

We arrived back in Maine on Saturday, Nov. 5, after a few days out of state to find, posted along our route, deeply troubling signs supporting a "yes" vote on Question 1. These signs said that by voting "yes" we could "Preserve marriage and protect Maine."

What does basic civil rights for all have to do with marriage? What are we supposed to be "protecting" Maine from? Certainly a "yes" vote does not preserve basic civil rights nor protect us from narrow-minded bigotry.

When we opened The Citizen we saw an ad full of more of the same misleading distortions of an important issue facing us on Election Day.

It is alarming that some of our neighbors, many of whom consider themselves Christians, feel comfortable using techniques of innuendo and misrepresentation to belittle and scapegoat other members of our community in a way that is inconsistent with the Christian message of love and inclusion.

We wish we could believe that Jesus' words from the cross apply to these individuals who are so intent on winning that they will say anything. "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

THANKS FOR THE HOCKEY FIELD

To the Editor:

The Telstar field hockey team, parents, fans and the Telstar administration wish to thank Gould Academy, their staff (Mary Buckman) and athletic director, Sue Gardner, for allowing our field hockey team to play the MVC/Western Maine Field Hockey Championship game at the Gould Academy field.

The recent rains had reduced our field to a very soggy quagmire and we would have had to move the game to Dirigo High School had Gould Academy not allowed us to play at home in Bethel. This generous offer allowed more of our fans to attend the game and kept the girls from having to travel to host the game. More importantly, it allowed us to play on the best field available.

Again, we wish to thank Sue Gardner and Mary Buckman personally for the preparation they both put into getting the field ready for our game.

Teams, coaches, fans and ADs have acknowledged the great condition of the field. Sally Boivin, the Livermore Falls AD, spoke highly of the Gould Academy field at our monthly meeting this past Wednesday. I spoke with Mary on the day of the game and commended her and Gould Academy for the care that obviously had been put into their fields. Mary was rightly pleased and welcomed the opportunity to "show off" the Gould Academy fields.

In small towns such as ours, the kindred spirit of helping your neighbor is not more evident than in this situation. Our girls' field hockey team was able to defend its Western Maine Championship because it did play at home in Bethel. We believe that playing on the best field available allowed both teams their best opportunity to play a championship caliber game.

Again, we thank Gould Academy, Mary Buckman and Sue Gardner for this opportunity.

James F. Lunney
Athletic Director, Telstar Regional High School

FOOTBALL THANKS

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the entire Greenwood Spartans Youth Football organization for the most positive and encouraging beginning we could have wanted. The tasks to hurdle to create this opportunity for our young athletes were numerous and, at times, daunting but the spirit and determination of our volunteers and kids were greater than the challenges. Already there is much anticipation for year two!

So many deep thanks are due to so many individuals and groups whose time and support were invaluable to this program. Thanks to the fans who made their way to the fields on Sunday afternoons to cheer our kids on and watch them grow and develop. Thanks to SAD44 for the use of the athletic complex at Telstar. A very big thanks to the concessions crew that developed "out of thin air" to provide terrific snacks to all the fans and players; all too many visiting parents were heard wishing their group could have chili and fried dough. Thanks so much to the town of Greenwood for supporting the Spartans.

Most of all, priceless thanks to the parents, volunteer coaches, and the players. The way these groups galvanized with such spirit, energy and enthusiasm leaves me with little doubt that, despite its long absence, football is back. You provided me with the privilege of watching 47 young athletes laugh, hustle, sweat and learn as both individuals and as a group. I watched you learn to pick each other up off the ground to face the next challenge together. I couldn't be more proud of you.

The fact that you kept driving as though a victory was on the line as the clock was winding down on the last game and we weren't going to win, the fact that you refused to just give up and walk away showed me that you learned the most important part of football that I hope you apply to your lives: every play (day) is a new chance to do better, every play (day) is a new chance to do it right — you just need the right attitude. I believe in what football did for me and that it is life laid out in 100 yards: when you get knocked off your feet, you need to get back up and get ready to try because the next play (next day) is coming.

We will all be getting together one more time in early December to turn in equipment and have some food, fun and awards. You'll be getting a call with details when they are finalized. I look forward to seeing all of you then.

Thank you so much.

Jim Rose
Head Coach, Greenwood Spartans Youth Football

MT. EVEREST SLIDE SHOW

To the Editor:

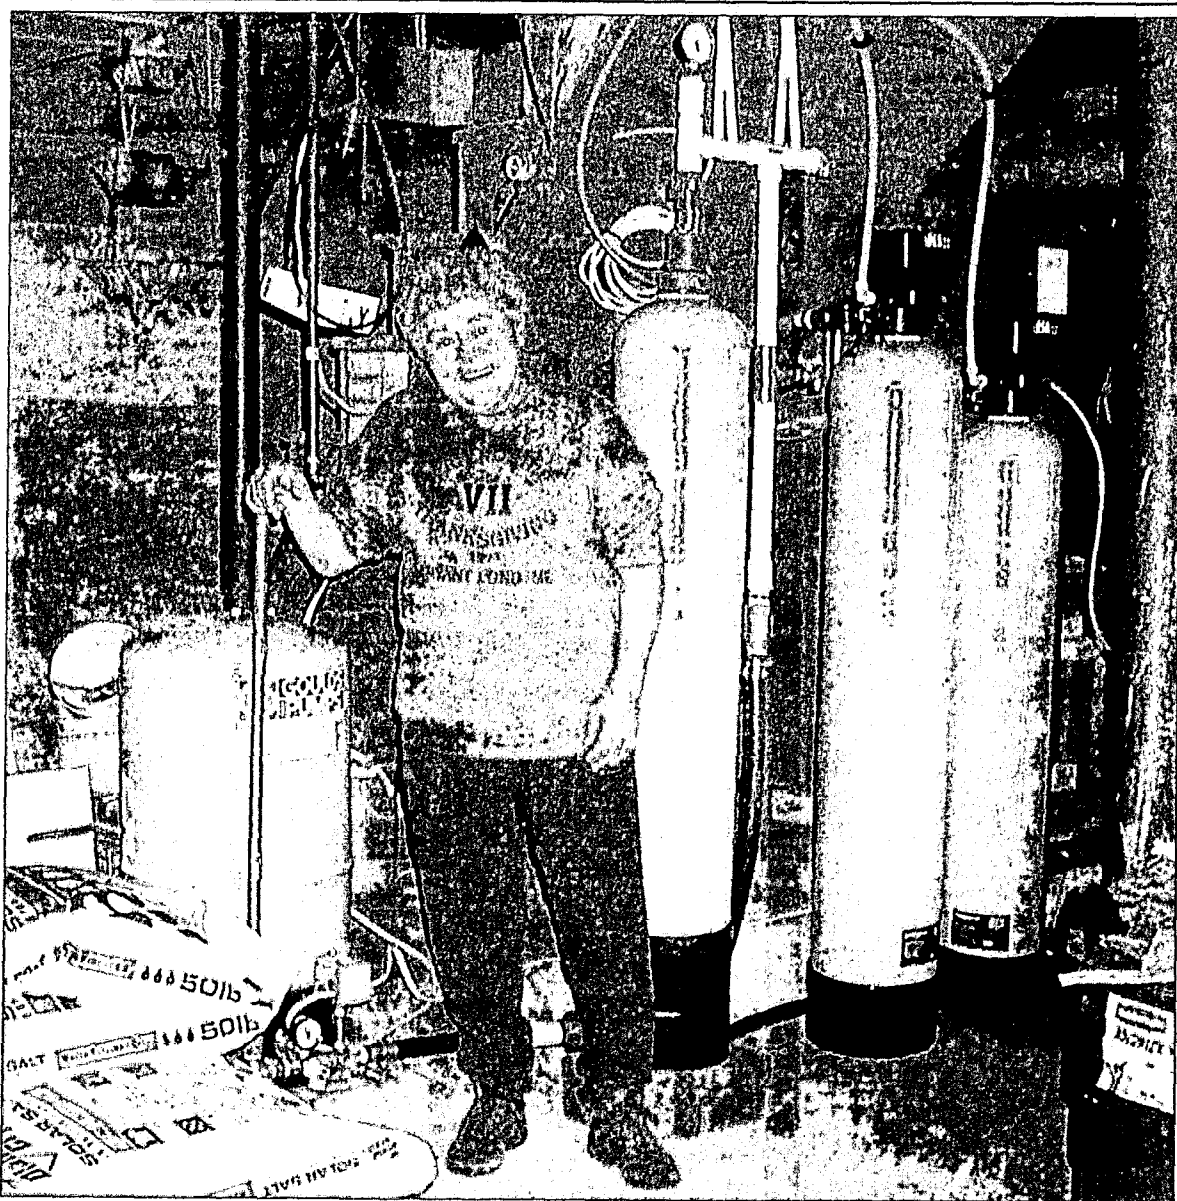

On Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. the Mahoosuc Land Trust will present the first of its "Local Knowledge Series" at the McLaughlin Science Center at Gould Academy. We are excited to have as our speaker Dr. Robert K. Story, Jr., a local surgeon. Dr. Story graduated from Tufts University Medical School and then did his residency at Dartmouth-Hitchcock Hospital in New Hampshire. When not performing surgery, he is off hiking the world — from our own Mahoosucs, to Switzerland, to New Zealand, to Bhutan, to Nepal. He started hiking at 8 years of age with his dad, and has never lost his interest or passion.

With some wonderful slides to guide us, we will travel with him on his 23-day hike this past year into the base camp at Mt. Everest. He will speak of his brush with Buddhism and the added spiritual aspect of hiking in the grandeur and beauty of the Himalayan Mountains. It's a story and a trip that you won't want to miss. Come join us for an exciting evening of adventure.

Water

to wash with it it turned everything black."

Minerals, especially iron and manganese, were the primary culprit. "Iron and manganese together are just awful," Villacaro said.

The state, after a frustrating period of bureaucratic delay, eventually acknowledged the problem and agreed to pay for an extensive filtration system to clean the water.

Despite the delay, Villacaro is very happy with the way the state dealt with the situation. "They have done so well by me," she said, "I am more than happy with the state."

The new system requires some maintenance, and the state has agreed to be responsible for that for 15 years.

"I am just delighted with the way things have turned out," Villacaro said.

Bridge

that if everybody here, their wives and their children lived on the other side of that bridge, they'd think the way I do."

The selectmen had included the realignment option when they sent out for bids on the repair, but the cost of doing so turned out to be at least double the $40,000 figure they eventually recommended voters approve.

"We're trying to be as accommodating as possible to the folks who live on that side of the river, but still being fiscally responsible," said Selectman Dennis Doyon. "Everybody would love to have the best of everything for all projects, but I would hate to have to go out into the community and say: 'We could have spent $35,000 for a bridge but we decided to spend over $100,000.'"

Town Manager Scott Cole noted also that realigning the bridge would entail more extensive permitting, which would make it impossible to complete the project this year.

Resident Jackie Cressy questioned why such a delay would be a problem.

Because, said Selectman Jack Cross, with the bridge posted, "You can't take a fire truck or a fuel truck over it. In other words Dick can't get fuel, and if his house catches on fire the fire truck aren't supposed to go over it."

Heavy vehicles can access the far side of the river by using a private road over land of Hancock Lumber and Chadbourne Tree Farms, but two gates on the road are currently closed.

"So we aren't being protected for fire or ambulance," said Nesta Littlefield.

"Not to the ideal level," conceded Town Manager Scott Cole.

Cole said later that the town has a verbal agreement with the two landowners for use of the road, but the gates will probably remain closed until a written agreement can be signed.

Following Monday's vote the selectmen approved a contract with Sysko & Young of Bethel for $34,865 to do the bridge work.

Everything but the bridge's concrete abutments — which have been found to be sound — will be replaced.

While the work is underway the bridge will be closed, and access to the far side of the river will be across the Hancock and Chadbourne land, assuming the written agreements are in place.

Engineer Jim Sysko said Tuesday he and Young are ready to go as soon "as soon as the town gives us the go ahead."

Driver seriously hurt in crash

BETHEL — A Vermont man suffered a broken leg and hip last Thursday when his Subaru station wagon crossed the center line on Route 2 and struck an oncoming box truck. David Ashley, 69, of Westford, Vt., was traveling west near Bethel Auto Sales when he crossed the line, according to Bethel Police Chief Alan Carr. The driver of the truck, Jean-Paul D'Auteuil, 58, of New Gloucester steered to the right to try to avoid Ashley, but the car struck the truck's rear wheels. The impact spun the truck completely around and it came to rest on the opposite guard rail. Ashley was trapped in the car and had to be cut free by Bethel firefighters. Bethel Rescue prepared Ashley for transport and he was flown by LifeFlight helicopter to Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston, where he was listed in fair condition as of Wednesday. The car was totaled and the truck sustained $15,000 in damage, Carr said. It was several hours before a large wrecker could be obtained to tow the truck. Fire fighters directed traffic and state police, county deputies and Bethel officers Buddy Richard and Sgt. S.R. White also assisted at the scene.

this year, the daughter of a retired Massachusetts state trooper e-mailed Telstar High School.

"I am hoping you can reunite a class ring with its owner," wrote Jennifer Schmohl. "My father found a 1971 Telstar Regional High School ring. The inside of the ring has the initials 'WJC' engraved. I think it would be so great for the owner or his/her family to receive the ring in the mail."

Her father, Carleton Stillings, had recently found the ring among old police reports he had stored in his basement.

Wendy Hanscom, Telstar's secretary, looked up the class graduates in the school's 1971 yearbook. There was no one with the WJC initials, but there was a WTC — Wilfred Thomas Coolidge, known as Tom.

A check back with the daughter determined what looked like a 'J' was in fact a 'T.'

The ring arrived in the mail last Wednesday, and Hanscom had to go no farther than up the school stairs to return it.

Coolidge is the current music teacher at Telstar Middle School.

The ring's re-appearance was completely unexpected. "I never had a class ring," Coolidge said.

He speculates it was perhaps going to be a gift from his parents. But he couldn't verify that, since his mother is no longer living and his father doesn't remember anything about it.

But regardless of the ring's history, it didn't take Coolidge long to figure out what to do with it.

Because he never had the ring, he had not had the opportunity to give it to a "steady" girlfriend to wear around her neck.

His wife, Chris, who graduated from Edward Little High School 23 years ago, never had a ring, either. She was one of 10 children, and her family couldn't afford it.

So last Friday, Chris was summoned by Tom to Telstar for a parent/teacher conference about their son.

Or so she thought.

When she arrived, Tom presented her with the ring, a chain to wear it on, a card, and a rose.

In the card he asked Chris to "wear my ring," and "be my girl."

The presentation was made in front of one of Tom's music classes.

"Amazing," said one student. "Cool," said another.

As for Chris, "I'm a little shocked. It's neat," she said, as she put the chain around her neck. "Now I have a class ring."

And as of this week, Tom reports, she was still wearing it.

islands on the Androscoggin in Bethel; and Puzzle Mountain in Newry.

The trust was also involved in the purchase of canoe landings on the Androscoggin River, including Newt's Landing in West Bethel and Moran's Landing in Hanover.

"A lot of things came along the river," said Bohr.

"In the early days there was no place canoes could go [to find access to the Androscoggin], except across someone's land," Bohr said.

MLT also collaborated with the Maine Department of Conservation on the purchase of Frenchman's Hole in Riley Township.

And MLT acquired a gift of 64 acres, known as the Dolan property, in Woodstock. That land was then sold, so the proceeds might be used toward other land purchases.

For Bohr, the most satisfying land acquisition was the 14-acre Gateway property, a triangle-shaped parcel located just south of Bethel village on Route 26.

It protects a view of the mountains as motorists approach the village.

"The Gateway was a high point," said Bohr, who was serving as the MLT board president at the time.

Today's MLT

As MLT accumulated parcels, it also grew as an organization. Grants from the Betterment Fund helped establish a part-time director's position in 1991. Polak and Jim Mitchell, the current director, have served in the position.

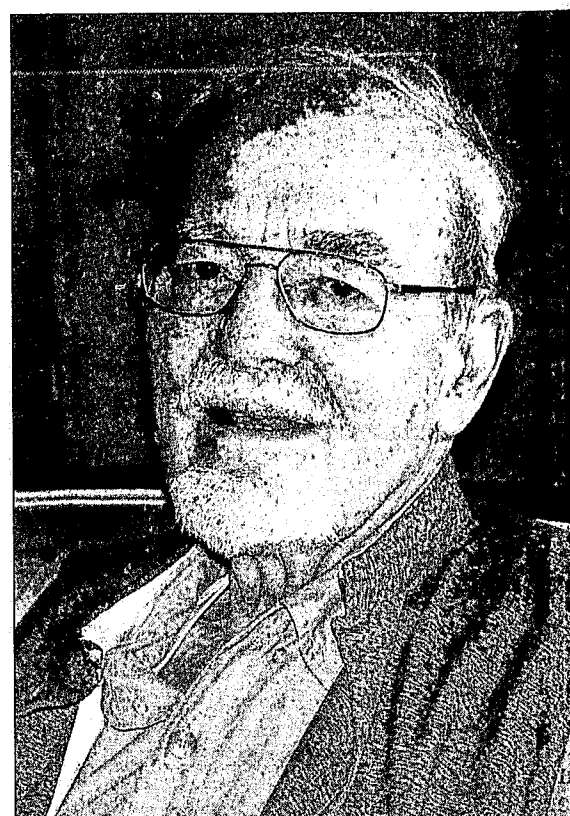

Just this year, a Betterment grant allowed MLT to make the job full-time and to add a part-time assistant and a director of volunteers.

MLT has also divided responsibilities up into committees including the relatively new Trails Committee, which seeks to establish a recreational trail system in the Bethel area.

The recent sale of hundreds of thousands of forested acres by Maine's paper companies has made land preservation more challenging.

"It's made this work more urgent," said Bohr. "We have a number of projects we're working on now as a result of that," he said.

A current example is Buck's Ledge in Woodstock. MLT is currently seeking proposals from developers that would preserve part of the parcel while allowing development on the rest.

"We have to pick out a part of a mountain we want to save," said Bohr.

Although Bohr has retired from MLT, he has not given up taking on new projects.

Next up: writing a personal history for his children.

Steve Wight, the current president of the MLT board, praised Bohr's contributions to the land preservation efforts over the years.

"Ken's interest in research, and his amazing ability to interpret the results of that research to others, has been a primary force in the creation and growth of the Land Trust," he said.

Household items

As for household items classified as universal waste, most currently go into the regular trash stream, according to OCSWRC manager Warren Sessions.

That is scheduled to change in July 2006, when a new law will ban the household materials from landfills. Manufacturers of the items will be required to pick up the cost of their disposal beginning in January.

Household waste items may be brought to the Norway center now, if residents are willing to pay the business fees, Sessions said.

Mayville News by Donald Bennett

I have a correction to make in the Mayville news of Nov. 3: The Riverbend foundation contractor is Henry Hudson not Harry Hudson. Bill Dun-ton asked to be re-designat-ed from architect/designer to master builder.

Signs of the times: The mo-torcycle sign panel at the Riv-er View Resort has been re-placed with a snowmobile panel.

At the "Brew Pub" a notice-ably larger crowd was gath-ering for 5 o'clock "services" this week than in previous weeks.

Friday evening, a sizable crowd of young people were downing Subway sandwich-es at Irving's Mainway Store. Leroy Patten said that they might be connected to a big event of some kind at Sunday River.

Fields in the vicinity of our house are being "top dressed." If you are unfamiliar with the term, your nose will educate you.

News Flashback: Mayville: "July 6, 1890, the Second Con-gregational Society voted to disband and closed the doors of the church edifice to the public as a resort for public worship and the descendants of the 'prodigals' returned to the house of their father's, less than a mile distant, a free bridge making the way more easy, though by vote of the town no toll was collected of persons passing to and from religious meetings." Taken from a local history column by Leonard B. Chapman that ap-peared in The Oxford County Citizen, Bethel, Sept. 30, 1909.

Connected in Mayville: Looking out on the May-ville "interstate," Route 2, Ross Timberlake told me that sometimes he goes two or three days without going to Main Street because he can get what he needs right here in Mayville — either at the Good Food Store or at the Ir-ving Station's Mainway Store. He and his wife, Carole, run their business, Timberlake and Company, in the middle of what was 150 years ago rebel territory. (Moving the Con-gregational Church and col-lecting tolls for using the riv-er bridge were the issues.) To-day's Mayville business group seems to be joining forces to capture business much as the old-timers banded together to assert their social and politi-cal demands on the Bethel Hill crowd.

Besides Mayville's grow-ing self-sufficiency, Ross also sees opportunity for business community cooperation. The Norseman Inn, Briar Lea, Rostay, The Prodigal Inn and Rooster's Roadhouse are the sleeping and eating compo-nents of what Ross calls "get-away packages." Timberlake's Home Store, Tom White's Stu-dio and The Quilt Shop at Ros-tay are a few of the shopping and "workshop" components. A bonus of this plan is that all the plan's pieces are within easy walking distance. For ex-ample, a "package" weekend for woodworkers sponsored by Timberlake can spread the wealth for lodging and din-ner to the other members in the Mayville group and be of-fered to the visitor or partici-pant on a "one-price-covers-all arrangement." It's a simple concept," Ross admits, "and it has worked elsewhere. Bethel is just perfect for such a co-operative marketing plan. I wish the business leaders would get behind the concept."

Energy conservation will be a key element in the Tim-berlake's business plan this win-ter. Manufacturing hours may be cut to save fuel on the cold-est days. By saving dollars on energy, he hopes to pass sav-ings on to his customers by not raising his prices to cov-er energy costs. Ross says that he devotes nearly 80 percent of his time now on marketing, so selling the energy con-servation plan will be part of his daily job anyway.

One of the marketing anec-dotes Ross tells is about talk-ing his father into agreeing to spend $4,000 on advertis-ing in Early American Life magazine. This was in 1993; the program bombed — not a single order. Sam Tim-berlake said, "No more advertis-ing." So Ross went to work to teach himself about the Inter-net. Their first Internet order came from Idaho with 12 pa-ges of specifications plus a one-third deposit check for $4,000 — prodigal son redeemed. At that time, their monthly Inter-net bill was $35. Since 1994 In-ternet business has been their major source of sales.

Some founders probably re-member foundation work go-ing on at the Timberlake's house during the last year and a half. Ross told me that the foundation on the east side of the house showed signs of buckling. Andre's Construc-tion replaced the old founda-tion, removed the old porch and extended the shop over a new foundation along the back. Ross said, "We shored up the driveway side about twelve feet under the barn corner. It probably wasn't urgent" but I found the shop space cramped so that is what really motivat-ed me to have the work done." They found an envelope post-marked 1889 when they re-did Roy Barker's old office, which is now the back door entry to their showroom.

My questions to the Tim-berlake's about their business were: What are your hottest sales items and your best mar-kets? Who buys them? How many pe-ple are involved in the manu-facturing section? Where is your "factory" and how are your products shipped? And the answers came out like this: The "factory" is a small workshop in the barn; Ross and Carole are the employ-ees. A friend in Sebago is a subcontractor who helps on large projects. Local contrac-tors Barry Carver and Tony Andrews have been commis-sioned on projects as well. All products seen on their Web-site www.stimberlake.com or <http://www.stimberlake.com> are built in Mayville. They have not raised their chair prices for five years, looking instead for production efficiencies and economies in materials.

"Our best item, hands down, is our kitchen counter stool which sells for $250. Our first-time customers receive a 10 percent 'savings' on their or-der and we ask them to use that savings to make a dona-tion to a Shaker community to help with their restoration and keep the Shaker legend alive." Ross says he also offers 10 per-cent off to local customers and up to six months to complete payment as sales incentives. Chairs are shipped by FedEx Ground and larger items are sent by freight. Sometimes the Timberlakes hit the road in their own truck to deliver an order personally. "Our cus-tomers are worldwide but the highest percentage of them live in the Connecticut to New Jersey corridor with Long Is-land and the Hamptons being a profitable appendage to the main stem," Ross told me.

Carole Timberlake's efforts right now are directed toward the annual rush of wooden-ware orders (their "Perfect Spreader" is a hit with a num-ber of gourmet food stores and specialty food makers) and the Local Crafts and Wares Fair after Thanksgiving. She works year 'round with Ross on the mail order business and the furniture but around Septem-ber the preparations are made to concentrate on the cutting boards, spreaders, and other woodenware. The fine finish you find on Timberlake's fur-niture is a result of her patient and thorough sanding.

The Timberlakes buy their raw material from several vendors: locally, Bethel Fur-niture Stock has supplied spreader stock. They work with Premium Hardwoods in Rumford for specialty woods. Maine Coast Lumber in York is their main supplier for maple and cherry lumber and is their best source on the plan-et for hardwood plywood. His friend, Randy Malm, in Bryant Pond turns many of the chair finials. "He's got a state-of-the-art lathe that helps us control costs and heads very good."

"When we created our show-room Carole peeled up many years of linoleum and car-pets, then we swiped the pine floors with a sander a couple of times, filled the cracks and spaces in the floor and painted the walls and trim. We wanted to keep the 'residential' feel of the place in case the next own-er wanted to renovate back to the original as much as one might." When I walked into their showroom recently, my first impression was that it looked like their dining room.

For a "touch and feel" walk-in customer, (in spite of the Internet, there are still such people around) their show-room is also part of the plan to attract customers staying in nearby inns. Ross explained, "We have designs of expand-ing the showroom to include a few second-floor rooms." They have started to remodel a huge room in the back of the house that will be their "little great room." They have replaced all the windows, adding a few, and are trying to get the project along to the insulation stage. Their remodeling has to fit around making furniture from dawn to dusk.

In the end, the perpetual question comes down to this. How do you effectively sell fur-niture within Bethel's market-place? By moving to Mayville, the Timberlake's hoped to give their showroom better visibil-ity. To attract more walk-in, drive-by customers than they had in the village was Job One. Parkway Road has hosed traf-fic along Route 2 (and away from the village center) faster than ever before. One might reason that eye-catching signs would slow down drive-by partners for a better look, giving them at least a few sec-onds to say "Let's stop here." So far this has not happened. Drivers are probably thinking Bangor, Bar Harbor, Portland, Gorham, Berlin, St. Johns-bury, Boston or Canada. And in the winter the multitude is thinking Sunday River or get-ting home.

The Timberlake's original "shingle" has been replaced with an expensive, artistic, easily read sign. Their drive-way opening and parking space has been re-landscaped. But, their efforts to slow or stop traffic have not worked. So they have been discussing a Mayville cooperative pack-age plan with business neigh-bors. Get the people who have come on a planned vacation, or have stopped early in the afternoon for a driving break, or are staying over a few days in Mayville, out on their feet to see the Timberlake's show-room (or Tom White's Sculp-ture Studio or Kathy Thrall's Quilt Shop). Ross also has talked about a Mayville gift certificate, like a Maine Mall gift certificate or pack of dis-count coupons usable at any of the participating neighbor-hood businesses. Mayville may get connected sooner or later; maybe a nice concrete, or even better one of brick, sidewalk from the bridge to the Norseman and then to the Good Food Store would help?

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

Friday, Nov. 11, is a day to pause and re-member those who served their country in all the sad wars of the past century. It is of course, Veter-ans Day. We older folks knew it as Armistice Day. In Canada it is called Remembrance Day. No matter what the title it is still a day to honor the young men and women who gave up part of their life in the name of freedom for our country. We salute all veterans and those still engaged in combat in Iraq and Afghanistan.

Saturday, Nov. 5, a Flu Clin-ic was held in Errol. Surround-ing towns of Dixville, Magallo-way, Wilson's Mills and Upton all participated. A team from the Colebrook Hospital vol-unteered the day to the cause. Becky Bean, of Errol, was the coordinator. Donna Glover and Ellie LeComte took blood pressure readings. Lab techni-cians from Colebrook did cho-lesterol tests. It was a fine day of community spirit.

The noble hunters are again roaming our forests in pur-suit of the elusive stag. The uniform of choice and law is international orange. Upton is again without a "check-in" station. After a long day in the woods chasing the "Elusive Stag," if perchance they got lucky and bagged one, that is not the end of the work. After dressing out and transporting the animal, they must travel to Andover, which is 14 miles away, or to Newry, which is 21 miles away. As sunset comes they must notify the game warden that they have a deer. A lot of time has elapsed be-fore the process is complete. A

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

Once upon a time in days gone by the only talking and sing-ing that a person heard was done by another person. Now it seems that the world is full of inanimate objects that have become animated and both talk and sing.

I was in a department store the other day and heard a steady spew of chatter. I looked around and found that my husband and I were the only people in sight and the chatter certainly wasn't com-ing from my husband. Then I looked up and found a life-size plastic deer head mounted on a display end-cap and the darn thing was moving its mouth and talking!

As I gaped at the deer mount in amazement, it started to sing "I'm Dreaming of a White Tail Deer Christmas." I couldn't believe my eyes or ears.

On further inspection I re-alized that this very annoying talking and singing deer head was displayed in the hunting department of this store. To my way of thinking there is something very wrong about an animated deer marking the area where human beings buy the guns and bullets that are used to kill the deer's real live counter parts.

Not to mention the fact that my animated talking and sing-ing friend cost $99.99! I'll be the first to admit that I don't have my finger on the pulse of consumer buying habits, but I just can't imagine anyone spending $100 on this really annoying thing.

Later that same day I was looking through a catalog and lo and behold, they had an animated singing moose head for sale! This one was a furry creature with a wreath around its neck and bedecked with bells, bows and lights. The motion-activated moose moves its mouth to chuckle "Ho, Ho, Ho, Merry Christmas," and then sings "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," while yellow, red and green lights blink on and off.

That might be cute for about five minutes and then I'd be pulling the batteries out of the stupid thing.

Electronic stuff has been around for a number of years, but it is the first time I have seen a singing deer in a hunt-ing department. That seems like the last place a deer would have anything to sing about.

As I gaped at the deer mount in amazement, it started to sing "I'm Dreaming of a White Tail Deer Christmas." I couldn't believe my eyes or ears!

One of the first electronic gadgets I ever encountered was a Christmas theme cup that had an electronic chip stuck on the bottom of it. Every time you picked the cup up it would activate the chip and a very tinny version of Jingle Bells played.

The cup was given to me as a gift so even though I found it quite annoying I was reluc-tant to get rid of it. I avoided using it, but it frequently Jingled Belled away in the cupboard. You'd be surprised at how loud those little chips can be.

I put up with it for a while and finally decided I could keep the cup and rid myself of the bad music simply by prying the chip off of the bottom. However, thinking that little chip might come in handy sometime in the future, I put it in a drawer. Big mis-take! Every time the drawer was opened the stupid thing went into it's tinny version of Jingle Bells.

Enough is enough and even-tually I threw it away, but, believe it or not, it continued to play in the garbage bag non-stop until the rubbish went to the dump. It's been several years now, but I'm willing to bet that somewhere in some landfill, if you lis-ten very closely, you'll hear Jingle Bells among the trash.

When my grandsons were toddlers most of their toys talked, sang or otherwise annoyed. One particular toy recited the alphabet, counted, and named the colors and shapes. A great educational toy if you can stand to listen to it.

It did provide some amuse-ment one time when our dog accidentally stepped on it and was quite startled when it talked to him. He quickly discovered that every time he stepped on it or nosed the toy, it would not only talk but it would light up as well.

The dog would step on it, watch the blinking lights, hear "A is for apple," and then he would jump back and bark. This was funny for about five or ten minutes then I took the batteries out of the toy and took the dog for a walk.

Now with the holiday season upon us I have no doubt that a walk through a store will assault one's ear with all kinds of electronic gadgetry singing, talking, beeping, buzzing and playing Christmas carols. I sort of miss the days when inanimate objects didn't do anything other than their intended pur-pose and the way I see it that's the way they should be.

check-in station would be appropriate for our town. Errol has two stations.

Sue Nelson and Liz Stanczyk kept our annual tradition alive by visiting the early fairs in Bethel and West Bethel on Saturday.

The little moose, who is no longer little, hasn't been seen for a week. Noah and Garret Morton are interested in hearing about the "little" fellow. She must have headed for the Moose Winter Quarters. Not hearing any gunfire, she is probably safe.

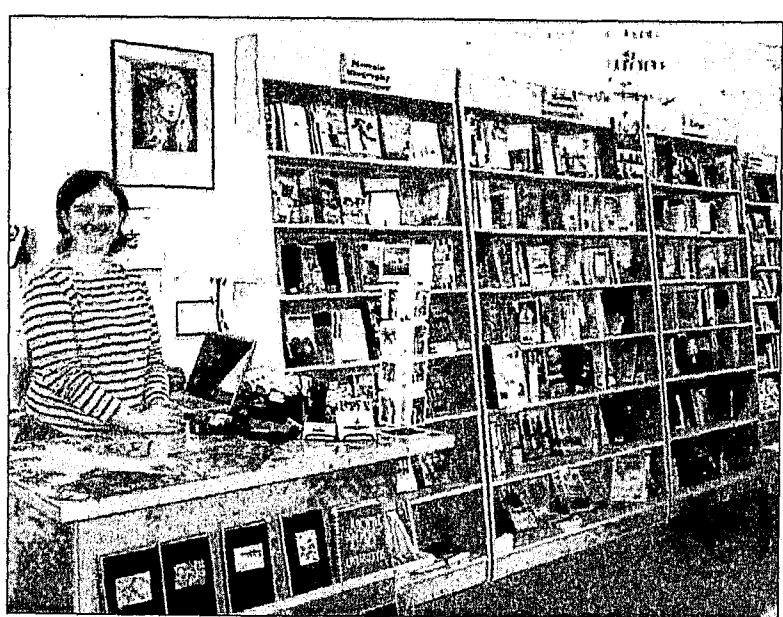

The beach is cluttered with fallen trees. No, it wasn't a wind storm! It was "Bucky Beaver," who is a busy beaver building a lodge somewhere on the water. They are called the engineers of the animal world and samples of their expertise is along the lake shore. One fallen birch, about eight inches around is their latest victim. It is far too heavy for Bucky to pull across the lake so they have been chopping away at the middle of the log "cutting" his work in half. They don't need a permit to cut trees along the lake shore and they certainly improve the view. Let us give a flap of the tail for Mother Nature's loggers.

The "Bird of the Week" is the cardinal. Wilma and Jim Rector have a pair on the East "B" Hill Road. Two pair visit the Stanczyk's on Mill Road. Sue Nelson saw one near the lake. Please call if you see one.

The blue jays and Canada jays continue to devour pounds of suet. We call them the "Pig Birds," but they sure are entertaining and beautiful.

Our best wishes to Sally Lavallee, a person loved by all in Upton. We hope she will be well soon.

There will be a Flu Clinic in Bethel on Nov. 14 from 6 to 8 p.m. and one on Nov. 19 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Bethel Family Health Center, Railroad Street. Cost: $18, excluding Medicare recipients (bring Medicare number). Protect yourself with a Flu Shot. Ginny Williamson posted it at the Upton Village Store.

Mason

Last Saturday evening I was privileged to attend a chicken supper put on by the members of the Church of the Nazarene in Bethel for local veterans in honor of Veterans Day, Nov. 11. I am here to tell you those ladies put on a great meal, complete with stuffing, gravy, mashed potatoes, green beans, coleslaw, cranberry sauce, apple sauce, rolls and choice of pies for dessert. This was followed by a presentation of the colors by American Legion members and a "sing-a-long" of a selection of patriotic songs by the entire assembly, including "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "You're a Grand Old Flag."

I did not count the veterans present, but I'm guessing there were 25 of us, and every one of those in attendance was pleased to be recognized and appreciated by the church members. Thank you all from all us local veterans.

As you know, November seems to stimulate the testosterone level in a lot of local deer hunters, myself included. Seems like every year there are fewer and fewer of the younger generation engaging in this activity, though. I think it must be related to the difficulty in getting into a position where a hunter has the opportunity to shoot at something; that, and the situation where more and more people are living in the suburbs, where there are fewer places where it is actually safe to discharge a firearm.

Fortunately, I do not fall into the latter category, as there are still quite a few undeveloped woods in and around Mason. Last Monday morning was a perfect day for deer hunting; it had rained overnight, making it quiet for walking in the woods. It was also bright, sunny and breezy, making it even more difficult for anything in the woods to hear small noises over the sound of the wind sighing and rushing through the trees. I was out fairly early, sneaking around some of my favorite "nubbles" from whence one can see quite a distance through open hardwoods and where there are an abundance of deer trails.

An eight-point buck with the same idea came sneaking over an adjacent ridge and stopped, staring straight at me, apparently unsure what I was, motionless in the swirling wind. I knew the deer would bolt the instant I made a move, but this one stood motionless, his body aligned squarely behind his head, making for a very small target. I very slowly raised my rifle until the crosshairs found his face and squeezed the trigger. He dropped like a stone.

Then the work began. I found dragging a 200-pound deer on bare ground a real drag and only made a few hundred yards in the first hour, mostly uphill.

Then I had a better idea. My Kubota tractor, a four-wheel drive and a bucket! I was able to drive the tractor up a woods road to the deer, loaded him in and eased him back to my pickup, where it was a simple matter to pull him into the truck bed. I never could have lifted him without the tractor.

There used to be a church in Mason, located atop Meeting-House Hill, across the road from the cemetery. Guy Morrill also had a few apple trees in the small field next to the church. Recently, an older fellow told me about an incident in that church that I had not heard before. One fall there were several deer seen coming out for the apples in the field next to the church. My older brother, Ernie, and Uncle Herm decided that church was the perfect place to hide and wait for the deer to come out. So they tried it.

One day as they were in the church, sure enough, a couple deer came out to the apple trees. Uncle Herm, an excitable sort, grabbed his .38-40 and started cramming shells into the breech. Bang! The gun discharged prematurely and punched a neat hole through the next pew.

By golly, if it weren't for the fact that the leaves are almost all off the trees,

I'd think it was September. I must say, the weather is mercurial (so to speak) — winter one day, late summer or fall the next. We have had a male cardinal visiting daily for the last week, and we enjoy him while we can, for he'll likely soon be gone.

The ladybugs are back in force, crawling all over the doors and windows, and clustering in the corner of the living room wall, up next to the ceiling. I know I should vacuum them up, but I haven't the heart to destroy these useful bugs and usually just let them die a natural death. Speaking of bugs, those little blue flies have appeared again as they often do on a sunny fall day after a cool night. Is there anyone out there who can identify them?

Debbie Luxton sings in the Mollycoddet Chorus of the Sweet Adelines and told me that she just returned from a weekend retreat with the chorus at Sunday River. The women sang all weekend under the direction of coach Sharon Babb from Colorado. The group is getting ready for a show on Dec. 10. If you enjoy listening to those wonderful close harmonies, mark your calendars for the matinee performance at Gould Academy. They will also perform that evening at Poland High School.

Fred Pierce told my husband that four deer were checked in at the corner store last week. Talk is that the critters are scarce this year, but I saw a set of fresh tracks Monday morning on the forest road.

The annual Christmas Fair was held at the West Bethel Union Church on Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m., and reports are that it was a success. There were some new faces among customers and some new contributors as well. The church women are now getting ready for their wreath sale on Saturday, Dec. 3. If it isn't one thing, it's another — busy, busy, busy!

Barbara Mahler and Jane Hosterman attended Pomoná Grange on Tuesday last week. They heard a speaker from the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond.

Apparently there has been a spate of visitors to West Bethel from other places. Kathy and Dave DiGruttola recently entertained Dave's parents from Long Island. The senior DiGruttolas enjoyed participating in local community activities. Brenda Emmett had a visit from her daughter and son-in-law of Dartmouth, Mass. That's close to our old stomping grounds, Mattapoisett, Mass.

I had an enjoyable time last weekend at a "sleepover" with our area spinning group. We gathered at a big, old house on Randolph Hill Road in Randolph, N.H. The program consisted of spinning, knitting, eating, and delighting in each other's company, not necessarily in that order. Now I'll have to redouble my exercise efforts for the next week.

A notice from the Bethel Historical Society indicates that MPBN has announced the airing dates for the episode of its popular "Made in Maine" program that was filmed in part at the Bethel Historical Society. Host Lou McNally will interview Society Executive Director Stanley Howe, and footage of the Smithsonian exhibition "Barn Again! Celebrating an American Icon" (which was on display in the society's drove over the new bridge. The tar had just been applied and they were allowing traffic to cross on one side.

On my way home from Bethel on Monday, I

The only trick or treat I had was my favorite visiting cat, Vinnie. He accepted a handful of cat food.

Leon and Sandee were off grooming this week. Leon attended a snowmobile meeting in Augusta on Tuesday evening.

Recently, Owen Wight and his son, Scott, of the Bronx, N.Y., visited Matthew and Donna Wight and their children in Wenatche, Wash., which is located on the Columbia River in the center of the state. They had a nice visit and enjoyed the western mountains, which Owen said are a bit different than ours.

James Lowell, a member of Boy Scout Troop 565 of Bethel, collected food on Saturday for "Scouting for Food" that was sponsored by the Pine Tree Council of Boy Scouts of America. It was a help-our-neighbors food drive. On Sunday, he turned in his collection to Gene and Lorraine Tanguay, the Scout leaders.

On Saturday evening, Nov. 12, the second Hunters' Supper will be held at the Bear River Grange Hall. This supper is sponsored by the Mothers Club. President/Secretary Seneca Coriveau related that the menu will be baked beans, chop suey, coleslaw and pies. The time is 5 to 7 p.m. The price is $6. There will be no charge for children 5 and under. Anyone who would like to contribute baked goods or help with the supper will be more than welcomed. You may reach Seneca by calling 824-0836.

I talked to Sylvia Wight today. She told me that Gretchen and her husband were helping them (Bill and Sylvia) move into their two-room apartment at Ledgeview at the very time I called. She will have a different telephone number and will let me know the new number soon. Sylvia is most appreciative of the many notes and cards Bill and she have received. They send their thanks to so many who have been so considerate in thinking of them. They both miss being home.

Andover

There will be a benefit supper for the Andrew Jones family on Friday, Nov. 18. Andrew is currently in Boston Children's Hospital after having two surgeries last week. He will remain in Boston throughout the month of November for recovery. Andrew, his mom, Rene, and brother, Matt, live on the Upton Road. The supper starts at 5 p.m. at the C.E.B. The menu consists of spaghetti, salad, Italian bread and dessert. Adults are $6 and children are $3. Donations are also being accepted at the Andover Elementary School. For more information, you can contact Tracy at 392-1113.

Herschel Hall, Ashburnham Mass., spent this past week hunting in the Andover area and visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Orville Meisner.

Other recent guests of the Meisners were their granddaughter, Tammy Hilton and son, Dylan, of Waterville, and also their daughter and granddaughter, Diane and Tracy Dymont of Glenburn.

Jennifer Seekin and children, Katie and Samie, of Oakland spent a couple of days recently with her parents, Janet and Gary Meisner.

The Snow Valley Sno-Gos have elected officers for the upcoming year: president, Mark Thurston; vice president, Sharon Farrington; treasurer, Janet Farrington; corresponding secretary, Honey Cronin; recording secretary, Cookie Thew; trailmaster, Hallie Hutchins; safety officer, George Thew; M.S.A., Malcolm Grant; alternate M.S.A., George Thew; social director, Jen McPherson. A meeting schedule was set for the upstairs of the Fire Station with starting time of 7 p.m. on Dec. 7, Jan. 4, Feb. 1, March 1, April 5, and May 3. There will be a potluck supper at the C.E.B.

on Jan. 21, and a poker run on Feb. 18, 2006. Sent in by Club Reporter Cookie Thew.

Sympathy is extended to the family of George Ellis, who passed away last week. A service will be held on Saturday, Nov. 19, at one-o'clock in Andover.

Tomorrow is a legal holiday, Veterans Day. The school kids have a long weekend and they have no school on Monday either — teacher workshop day.

Have a nice weekend.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

Halloween was quiet again this year. We had seven little Trick or Treaters at our house. Two of them were our grandchildren, William and Annie Chapman. William was dressed as Mr. Incredible and Annie was a princess. I thought that was appropriate since I am always referring to her as Princess Anne.

My brother, Steve McLain, had a couple of unexpected visitors over the weekend. Louis and Earlene Clough, who used to own the property next door to him, pulled up in his driveway on their new Harley Davidson motorcycle. Laney, Steve's little dog, was glad to see them. They came prepared with the special treats Laney used to get when she went next door to visit them when they were up for a visit.

Our one-year-old granddaughter, Sidney Chapman, spent the weekend with us. It is amazing just how busy a child that age can be. Our other two local grandchildren, William and Annie Chapman, were out walking with their Grandpa Linwood and stopped by for a short visit. Sunday, Nov. 6, was William's fifth birthday. He will be busy during the week celebrating.

Our oldest grandson, Benjamin Chapman of Ellsworth, was also here over the weekend. His mom and husband, Elena and Jon Martin, were in Bethel to visit Jon's brother, Jeff Martin. It is rare that we get to see all four grandchildren in the same weekend.

I spoke to Jack Pucak recently and he seems to be coming along quite well. It will take quite a while to mend that broken leg and to be able to get out and about.

Hugh and I were in Wal-Mart recently and noticing how they have all the Christmas items on the shelves. It seems the stores start out earlier every year. It used to be just before Thanksgiving, but now they begin even before Halloween. I really do not like to decorate our house too early for Christmas, but it is nice to get some of the things ready while the weather is still nice. Speaking of decorating for Christmas, pretty soon the Town Hall will be lit up again like it was last year.

I'm really pleased to see that Cynthia Handlen is doing some writing for the Sun Journal. She had a great article in there recently about the Gilead Fire Department doing training at the BIG Adventure Center in Bethel and also a very nice article covering the Aging Well Conference at Crescent Park School in Bethel. The conference was sponsored by the Western Mountains Senior College and SAD44 Adult Education.

I am still hoping for some news from the people of Gilead. Call me at 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail.com.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

It was a great celebration! Lillian and Craig Turner, who live on Main Street in Hanover, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Nov. 6. The event that was planned by their daughters, Jen and Jeanette, took place in the community room at Jen's home in Auburn. The room was decorated in 1965 era décor and music from that period was played. Scenes from the Turner's lifetimes flashed across computer screens. It was a well-planned and organized surprise event. Craig and Lillian thought they were going to a birthday party. Others from Hanover that attended were George and Mary Gionet along with Donna and Clem Worcester.

On Nov. 7, he would have been 99 years old, but Robert (Bob) Lovejoy died in 1965 at the age of 59. He sought no respite from his work as a commercial artist even while vacationing at the Lovejoy family home in Hanover. He was often seen sketching or painting wherever his artistic vision led him.

The works Lovejoy left are cherished, exemplifying sensitive artistry in capturing on canvas lovely local scenes from the era during which he pursued his calling. Undoubtedly many more fine paintings would have been produced if Lovejoy's untimely death had not occurred. Some of his works are being displayed at the Hanover Town Office for a limited time, courtesy of his daughter, Judith Ray, and others.

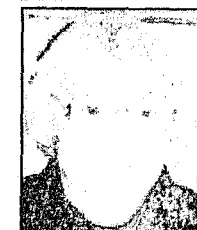

Jim Ray from the Triple J has left for the season, returning to his Austin, Texas, home last Thursday.

Lucky hunters reported to us are Wally Devoe and Ed McPherson. Bob Marchildon thought he might have had better luck if there had not been a foot and a half of snow in Jackman, the area he hunted in.

Property owners in Hanover can soon expect a delivery in their mailboxes. The tax bills are being prepared. The tax rate will increase 1.1 mills, moving from 14.3 to 15.4 mills. Due to an increase in the homestead exemption and increased evaluation due to new houses, property owners who fall under the homestead exemption plan will only notice a slight increase. The increased mill rate was the result from higher budget figures accepted by voters at the Oct. 25 Town Meeting.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on Nov. 13 Doug Leatham will speak on "The Great Healing Power of Love." Church is at 9 a.m. followed by a coffee hour. The organist is Jim Burke.

On Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond, Mary Emmons will be the guest speaker. She will talk about her many years in the ceramic business. It starts at 10 a.m. and is free to all. Refreshments will be served.

19 Summer St., Downtown Bethel (Behind NAPA)

The Hunter's Breakfast on the first day of deer hunting did a brisk business. Bill Penley won the muzzleloader.

I drove to Augusta last week to attend the 50th birthday party for my daughter, Peggy Lamb. Many family members and friends were there. The party was arranged by her husband, Mike Seaton. The zucchini chocolate cake that he made was delicious. It was a beautiful, sunny day. The roads to Augusta are all fairly newly hot-topped making the traveling more pleasant.

Two men from "Keep Me Warm" tightened up the house to keep the wind out. I should burn less oil this winter and be more comfortable.

The Rev. Joy Gasta's daughters, Rachel and Catherine Dedham, are in the area for a week. On Friday evening, the West Paris and Norway Universalist churches held a supper at West Paris to welcome them. A large crowd attended.

On Nov. 5 a memorial service for the Rev. Joy Gasta was held at the Norway Universalist Church with a large attendance from around the state.

Joseph Perham conducted the service. As chairman of the West Paris Church. I was one of the speakers.

Beryl Bonney and I attended the pig roast at Smedberg's vegetable store Sunday. The meat was roasted just perfect and the fries and onion rings were delicious. This was their Thank You for doing business with them all summer.

I tried Buffy out on a more expensive dry food, so now he wants nothing to do with the old, cheaper kind. He did eat a can of cat tuna which is much cheaper than the human tuna that he usually eats, so maybe I can occasionally slip some real cat food into his dinner.

Last week's news did not go so have combined it with this.

There is probably nothing wrong with the computer but I just cannot get it to do what I want at times.

At the Whitman Memorial Library on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 10 a.m. Mary Emmons will be guest presenter. Mary will be talking about the art of ceramic, which she has taught for several years. These library programs are free and open to all.

Franklin Grange 124 will hold a Mock HeeHaw Show on Saturday, Nov. 19, at 7 p.m. at the Grange Hall. Lots of new acts will be on hand this year plus 50/50, door prizes and refreshments on sale. The cost is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m.; morning worship at 10:30 a.m.; choir practice at 4:30 p.m.; evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. is prayer meeting; Thursday at 9 a.m. is ladies prayer time.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens met on Thursday at the Grange Hall. Thirty attended the Thanksgiving meal put on by the W. H. S. Alumni.

The Woodstock Extension will meet on Wednesday, Nov. 16, at the Town Annex. The meeting time is 10:30 a.m. It is a brown bag lunch and card embroidery is the program.

Judith Grover Tent 17 Daughters of Union Veterans will meet on Monday, Nov. 14 at the home of Alice Hoyt.

The Historical Society will meet at the Town Hall conference room December through March. However, the November meeting will be at the Museum Building. It is always the second Saturday of each month at 7 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend. If you come in November you can see the very fine collection of decorative arts at the heart of the Museum along with the local memorabilia. The museum depicts life in Woodstock during its heyday toward the end of the 19th century. You learn about home life from furniture to wearing apparel and about work on farms or in the mills. They feature a few luxury items here and there but the picture is mostly modest good taste. The past glows warmly and beckons everyone.

The society offers its condolences on Beatrice Farnum's death. She was a nice lady.

The society wants its members and the public to enjoy its offerings. They intend to please you. They want you to enjoy looking at the exhibits. They were collected for you to enjoy. There are valuable lessons to be learned at the museum about the past and present. They have some toys and dolls to represent amusements for children years ago. Works of many New England authors, adults would have read in their leisure hours. Olive Risko, president, has worked hard with Telstar Middle School at the museum. Annela Burnham and Joyce Howe have also done a lot.

Mary and Larry Billings enjoyed seeing clever costumes of kids at Halloween.

Last week, Tommy Poland, Joan Poland and I got together for Joan's birthday at Tommy's home. We had a nice lunch prepared by Tommy and visited for several hours. We do this for each of our birthdays. We all had a great time.

What beautiful weather we've been having. It probably will be snowing by the time you read this.

Richard has been working hard getting everything ready for winter — stoves, etc. He put a new funnel on the basement stove. This is harder than you think.

Much sympathy to the family and friends of Beatrice Farnum, who died recently. She will be greatly missed.

Several kinds of winter birds are showing up at our feeders: blue jays, chickadees, nuthatches, and woodpeckers, to name a few. They clean out all the feeders every day.

One of the cars for sale at our corner has been sold. The ones who have put cars there for sale have had good luck in selling them.

I do not have much news this week; would like to hear from anyone who has something they would like to have me put in.

Quote of the week: "I've learned that some people love talking about history, especially their own."

From the

Bethel Lions Club

The Bethel Lions Club will be holding a special meeting on Nov. 16 at the United Methodist Church on Main Street. We will be putting together fruit baskets for the Bethel residents, who now reside at Ledgerview Nursing Home.

If anyone is in need of eye care, please call Ed Friel at 824-2107.

From the

Oxford County Republicans will gather Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the Norway Congregational Church on Main Street to choose a nominee to recommend to Governor Baldacci for appointment to serve out the term of Oxford County District Three Commissioner Albert "Jim" Carey, who recently resigned due to ill health. Only official delegates elected at town caucuses in 2004 or their representatives will be eligible to participate in the selection process, but all Republicans are encouraged to attend and make their views known.

The social hour will begin at 5:30 p.m. followed by a ham dinner at 6:30 p.m. The election will take place at the business meeting after dinner.

From the

Western Mountains Senior College

A Thanksgiving Fiddlers Concert will launch a $5,000 fundraising drive for Katrina. The concert will be Nov. 20 at 2 p.m. in the auditorium of Rumford's Town Hall on Congress Street.

Western Mountains Senior College, Bethel, volunteered to "kick-off" the fund drive with an appearance of the Franklin County Fiddlers in concert. Senior college special events committee members assisting Eldridge include Dorothy Dunton, chairperson; Rosabelle Tift, Wendy Iseman and Linda Macgregor.

The group has gained recognition over the years with performances throughout Maine and appearances in Connecticut, Boston, Nashville, Quebec and Cape Breton.

Although fiddles are the featured segment of the orchestra, a rhythm section composed of other instruments includes guitar, bass, mandolin, cello and piano. The multi-stylistic group emphasizes the traditional music of America.

Admission is free with donations accepted at the door.

From the

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

In honor of Newry's 200th anniversary of incorporation, which took place on 15 June 1805, the Bethel Historical Society will officially commemorate this milestone at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Dr. Moses Mason House Meeting Room.

Earlier this year, during the town of Newry's celebration, the society opened an exhibit in its Robinson House providing some insights into this community's rich history. At the event to be held on Nov. 10, there will be a slide show with views of Newry people, buildings, and vistas. Following this portion of the program, there will be a panel of six to eight people with Newry ties who will discuss their memories and observations. Anyone with Newry connections is cordially invited to attend and bring photos and other memorabilia. Also anyone wishing to serve on the panel should call 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910.

From the Oxford County Democrats

The Oxford County Democrats will meet on Thursday, Nov. 17, at Telstar Regional High School for a potluck supper and regular business meeting, with the supper starting at 5:30 p.m. in the cafeteria. All towns are being asked to send representatives to begin planning for the Feb. 26 caucus meetings.

Mike Broderick of Bethel is chairing the Maine Democratic Party Platform Committee and will give an update to the County Democrats. Senator Bruce Bryant and Representative John Patrick will provide a legislative update, and County Chair Cathy Newell will present a report on the activities of the County Committee during the summer and fall.

The County Democrats were represented at the Oxford Hills Showcase on Oct. 28 and 29 with Roy Gedat, Terry Hayes, and Marge Medd attending the Networking Breakfast, and Nancy Willard, Sallie Nealand, Miriam Laster, and Cathy Newell staffing the booth. During the season of festivals and fairs, the County Committee was represented at events in West Paris, Andover, Bethel, Buckfield, Rumford, South Paris, Oxford, Fryeburg, Newry, and Dixfield.

On Thursday, Dec. 15, the River Valley Area Democrats will host a Holiday party and supper at the Eagles Hall. Congressman Mike Michaud has been invited and details of the event will be announced in late November.

Anyone interested in information on the Oxford County Democrats may contact Cathy Newell at 875-2116 or visit the Website at www.oxforddems.org.

From the O.C.R.S.W.C.

During the month of October the Oxford County Recycling/Solid Waste Corporation processed the following:

Shipped 169.16 tons of material at an estimated sale value of $18,485. Estimated cost to trash the same 169.16 tons material — $14,378.60 (based on average tipping and hauling fee of $85 per ton).

Recycled 168.42 tons of paper product saving 2,863.14 trees. It takes 17 average-sized trees to make one ton of paper.

Shipped 77.79 tons of corrugated cardboard with an estimated sale value of $4,889.

Shipped 61.92 tons of newspapers, magazines and junk mail with an estimated sale value of $4,489.

Shipped 24.37 tons of non-corrugated cardboard at an estimated sale value of $1,090.

Estimated avoided cost for October is $32,863.60. Recycled 190.66 tons or 381,320 pounds of material.

From January through October 2005, the Corporation has recycled 1,752.74 tons of material. This figure is up 81.7 tons over January through October 2004.

Instead of taxpayers paying an estimated $148,982.90 to trash the material, the Corporation will receive an estimated $146,807 from recycling it. This figure is up an estimated $2,165 over 2004.

Congratulations to the recycling teams of both Tri-Town and Stoneham/Waterford for packing seven out of seven cardboard containers with over 1,000 pounds each.

Gould Academy, Greenwood/Woodstock, Upton and West Paris also packed cardboard containers weighing in at over 1,000 pounds each.

Packing cardboard containers with over 1,000 pounds is time consuming. Hauling a fully loaded container to the recycling plant in Norway/Paris is cost efficient for the Corporation. We appreciate your efforts.

From the Bethel Rotary Club

The Rotary Club of Bethel has two holiday events coming up in the next month. On Sunday, Nov. 27, the Country Breakfast will take place at the Gould Academy Ordway Dining Hall. On Tuesday, Dec. 13, the annual Christmas Senior Luncheon will take place at the Locke Mills Legion Hall.

And beginning the weekend of Dec. 3 and continuing through the weekends before Christmas, Rotarians will be stationed outside the Bethel Foodliner ringing Christmas bells and collecting donations for the Christmas for Children fund. Contributions go toward providing gifts for area children whose families find it difficult to purchase presents for the holiday.

Dec. 3 is also the day of the annual lighting of the Rotary Christmas tree on the Bethel Common.

Rotarians will also soon be selling poinsettias as a fundraiser to support the club's various community service projects.

Members recently raised $1,000, to be matched by an anonymous donor, to go toward Hurricane Katrina relief.

This year has brought a very active group of three dozen Telstar and Gould students to the Interact Club, a school service organization affiliated with Rotary. The students have several service projects planned.

The Rotary club has had several interesting speakers at its weekly meetings over the past month.

Elicia Carmichael spoke about Friends Forever, a program that brings 10 kids from areas of conflict worldwide to the U.S. for a few weeks, primarily in the Northeast. Elicia described particularly the program for Protestant and Catholic youngsters from Northern Ireland. By coming here they have a chance to put the conflicts behind them and get to know each other. After spending time with each other here, they return home. But the relationships do not end there. The kids meet regularly for a year afterward, for a total of eight sessions, to try to enlarge the circle of people, through relatives and friends, committed to peace in the region.

Susan Jennings of the University of Maine Cooperative Extension spoke about the 4-

H services provided in Oxford County. In addition to the familiar 4-H Club programs, Youth Development also supports life skill courses in schools, aspirations programs and, specific to Telstar, leadership teams and mentors. The Pine Tree 4-H Foundation supports the Mahoosuc Kids Association after-school program in SAD44. MKA will soon be coming off a grant from the foundation and will seek other financial support. The Maine Community Foundation is launching a pilot program to build a campaign fund to support local youth programs.

Jeanne Boelsma, a member of Bethel Rescue, who also works as a veterinary technician at the Bethel Animal Hospital, spoke about her efforts to equip area fire trucks with resuscitation equipment for animals.

It's common at the scene of a house fire to find a dog or a cat overcome by smoke, because animals are often left alone at home during the day, while the family is at work or school.

She is trying to raise funds to equip one truck each in the Bethel, Newry and Gilead fire departments with a bag-valve mask and an oxygen mask. The bag-valve mask is used to pump air into the lungs of animals not breathing on their own. The oxygen mask is used when the animal is breathing but is suffering from smoke inhalation.

The masks are cone-shaped to fit over the animal's snout. A complete kit costs about $300.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may send checks, payable to "Revive-A-Pet," to Northeast Bank, P.O. Box 850, Bethel, ME 04217.

Earlier this month, club members had a tour of the Bumpus Mine in Albany. The HONORED FOR SERVICE—On Oct. 26, the Board of Selectmen hosted a public reception for Neta Littlefield on her retirement after more than 28 years as Chief Financial Officer and for Harry "Dutch" Dresser for his 12 years on the Board of Selectmen, six of them as chairman. Both honorees were presented with official letters from the Board of Selectmen citing their outstanding service to the Town of Bethel.

mine, which no longer operates, now serves as an historical and educational site. Tours are provided by Maine Mineralogy Expeditions.

The Rotary Club of Bethel is always open to consideration of new members. Anyone interested may contact Steve Wight, the current president, at 824-2410.

From the Andover Education Fund

The Andover Educational Fund, Inc., was incorporated in the state of Maine in 1957 by a group of educated-minded individuals who summered in Andover. They were governed by cumbersome and extensive bylaws, and were in the process of applying for IRS tax-exempt status when interest dwindled, and the fund went dormant.

In June of 1987 interest was rekindled in a fund that would award scholarships to Andover's students. The Edfund was reinstated, and was granted IRS 501 (c) (3) status. Since then, over 140 of Andover's students have shared in a little over $332,000. As residency is the only requirement in order to be eligible for an award, all of Andover's students are encouraged to apply wherever they attend high school. An annual campaign sustains these awards.

Other scholarships managed by the Edfund include the John and Eunice Fox Prize Scholarship, the Sweatt Family Memorial Scholarship, and the Anna Thurston Scholarship. These awards are funded by families, and through bequests. The total awarded to date reflects these awards.

Campaign contributors to date include: Andover Service Circle; Irvin and Gail Belanger; Dennis and Emily Bodemer; Francis and Theresa Bolduc; J. Lee and Beverly Boyle; Brooks Bros., Inc.; Geri Greenwell and Jack Brooks; Doris Brown; Harry and Pauline Chase; Glen and Kathy Conrad; Courier, Mary Gail McCarthy in memory of Guy Williams; Honey Cronin; Richard Douglass, Inc.; Richard and Grace Douglass; Thomas Dunn; Robert and Pearl Elliot; Ethan Allen, Inc.; Andover Wood Products; Mark and Sharon Farrington; Rachel Farrington; Wendy Ford; Lee C. Many thanks to you who have contributed. We are currently being matched for all money we raise up to $10,000 until Dec. 31. Won't you consider a donation to the Andover Educational Fund? It means so much to so many.

From the Whitman Memorial Library

Mary Emmons of Bryant Pond will be the guest speaker at Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 10 a.m. She will talk about her many years in the ceramic business.

All of our Thursday programs are free of charge and are open to the public. Light refreshments are served. All are welcome.

The Board of Trustees had a productive meeting on Oct. 27 where we voted to have the floors in the old part of the building refinished. This is an expensive project, but we feel that it is important for our building.

The new addition is fantastic, but we don't want to neglect the original part of the building. We will be sending out a letter requesting donations for this particular project. The response to our letter requesting funds two years ago was very successful. The support for our library was heartwarming. Thank you ahead of time for any support you can give us this time around.

Now that winter is coming we want to make sure you know that when SAD has no school due to stormy weather the library will also be closed. We hope that won't happen too often.

We are building up our collection of books, audio tapes, DVDs, tapes for the VCR and large-print books, and we want you to be able to get them. Our very newest DVD has been donated to us. It is "The 12 Dogs of Christmas." Remember that is the one that was filmed in Bethel and stars many local talents.

"Home Delivery," is a new program for us. If you are not able to get to the library and would like to borrow any of the above we are going to have volunteers deliver them to your house. Call the librarian, Althea Hathaway, at the library any Tuesday or Thursday afternoon. The number is 665-2505. We will have lists of our books on tape, DVDs and VCR tapes. We won't be providing a list of every book in the library, but we are sure there will be something you would like.

Our monthly programs have continued to be successful and interesting to a wide variety of guests. Wendy Newmeyer of Maine Balsam Fir was our September guest; Murad Sayen, author and photographer, was here in October; and Mary Emmons will be our November guest. George Twine from the Advertiser Democrat and the Mountain Poets will be our guest in December. We will not have a program in January or February, as the weather is so unpredictable, but we will plan on starting up again in March.

We received a notice from the Norway Memorial Library about an upcoming meeting about the Plum Creek's development plan for the Moosehead Lake Region. This is sponsored by the Friends of the Library. The meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 10, at 7 p.m. at the Western Maine University and Community College next to Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School. This should be very informative.

We do have several new books and DVDs. We have three new children's books: "Where Chimp," Benice Rabe; "My Friend Isabelle," Eliza Woloson; "My Big Machine Book," Funmax; "Garfield's Guide to Everything" and "Garfield Fat Cat," Jim Davis; "The Memory Keepers Daughter," Kim Edwards; "Miracle," Danielle Steele; "The No. 1 Ladies Detective Agency," Alexander Smith.

From the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library

Pat Carson, director of Camp Susan Curtis in Stoneham, will speak at Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library in Lovell

READY FOR COLLEGE NOW—Jillian Kimball of Albany, a senior at Telstar High School, was the grand prize winner in the "My U Sweepstakes," a contest sponsored by College Bound Teen magazine. She entered the online sweepstakes in October, and was recently notified her name had been drawn as the winner of more than $4,000 worth of electronic equipment that included a laptop computer, a digital camera, a Sony Playstation II, a Nano with speaker dock, a T-Mobile SideKick II, a $500 Old Navy Gift Card and a $50 iTunes gift certificate. She is pictured here with her winnings and Kevin O'Reilly, THS guidance counselor.

on Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7 p.m. Since 1974 CSC has provided over 12,000 Maine children living in poverty with one of the best camp experiences in Maine.

Carson will show a short movie and talk about the exciting work at the camp. Stoneham resident Fran Hamilton will share with us, with the help of old pictures, the history of the camp prior to 1974, when it was called Trout Lake Camp. She also wrote a history of the camp with Lovell resident Glenn Moore.

All welcome.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

MORE DOWN PAYMENT HELP

Perhaps the most common deterrent to first-time homebuyers is the lack of a down payment. The home loan industry has practically re-created itself in the last ten years, making it easier than ever to obtain a mortgage, and new mortgage programs are always cropping up.

Some states have a state-sponsored loan program, which allows buyers to purchase a home without putting any money down. A parent or other relative can guarantee repayment of ten percent of the loan if the buyer defaults. The only cash needed is for the settlement costs, which typically run about three percent of the loan.

Parents can also give their children down payment help through a personal note or second trust deed. The terms could be set up for monthly payments or annual payments amortized over a period of time. You could pay the interest only, and have the payoff due when the property is sold.

With so many alternatives, doesn't it make sense to call your Realtor for a free consultation? You may be closer to the end of the rent trap than you think.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

ENRICO 'ED' NAPLES

Enrico "Ed" Dominic (Napoli) Naples, age 85, died Friday, Nov. 4, 2005 in his home surrounded by his loving family.

He was born in Portland on Nov. 25, 1919, the son of Alphonso and Giacinda Napoli. He was the husband of Ruth L. Warren (Buckfield) for 57 years.

He was a member of St. Theresa's Parish. He was a life-long member of the Elks. He was a member of the American Legion. He was a member of the V.F.W. In 1993, he was recognized by the Lions Club as Citizen of the Year, "a person who made a difference."

In World War II he was an Amphibious Tank Commander involved in the war on the Pacific Front including the invasion of Okinawa, Japan.

Enrico enjoyed buying and selling cattle. He started a wholesale meatpacking business after the war in 1947 in Lewiston and in 1953 moved to Mexico and established "Naples Packing Company" that continues to run strong today. He also enjoyed buying and selling cars. He loved to travel to Portland and visit his old stomping grounds and many other Maine sites. His best times were holidays, birthdays, and any other occasion to bring the family together. He had a generous heart for many area local needs. He is best known for his sense of humor.

He and Ruth shared much joy listening to the local access TV stations' "country music" along with many late-night snacks together. As always, and especially in these last days, he was most grateful for the love and compassion of family and friends that supported him throughout his life. He will be greatly missed by all of his family.

He is survived by his devoted and loving wife, Ruth L. Naples; and their eight children, Eddy Naples and wife Marie DiSciullo-Naples of Mexico, Ginger Patterson and husband Allan of Mexico, Penny Laplante and husband David of Waterville, Mitzie Naples of Bethel, Candy Kersey and husband Mike of Weld, Cindy Ross and husband Bruce of Dixfield, Enrico "Jimmy" Jr. and Joan Wood of Peru, and Catherine Napolitano-Ross of Peru; seventeen grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and many nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his parents; brothers, Benjamin, James, John, Aneillo, Alphonso Jr. and Rudy; and sisters, Eleanor Fowler and Mary Gorman.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Monday, Nov. 7, at St. Theresa's Catholic Church in Mexico. Interment followed in Farrington Morton Cemetery, Mexico. If desired, contributions in his memory may be made to Santa's Helpers, c/o Dot Sanchas, 11 Prospect Avenue, Rumford ME 04276. Relatives and friends may pay tribute to Enrico at www.mem.com.

Card of Thanks

The family of Howard Cole wish to extend sincere appreciation for the kindness shown at his death. The beautiful flowers, letters, and cards are a tribute to one who was held in such esteem. There are times when one cannot put into words what the heart dictates, but had it not been for all your thoughtfulness, his death would have been harder to bear. He will be greatly missed!

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank friends and dance family for all the hugs, kind words, cards, and flowers that I received during the loss of my dad.

Sincerely,
Miss Bridget & Family

GEORGE H. ELLIS

Former president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, George H. Ellis of Andover and Wellesley, Mass., died on Thursday, Nov. 3, 2005 of complications following hip-replacement surgery. He was 85 years old.

Dr. Ellis was born in 1920 and received his B.A. in economics from the University of Maine in Orono in 1941; he was class valedictorian. He was a member of ROTC there and, upon graduation, was commissioned a second lieutenant of infantry in the U.S. Army. He served for over three years in the Pacific Theater in World War II where he was part of an infantry regiment that island-hopped from New Guinea across the South Pacific to the Philippines with General Douglas MacArthur. For a time, he was commander of his regiment's artillery and later served as regimental planning officer. He rose to the rank of major when his service was completed with the occupation forces in Japan at war's end.

After the war, Dr. Ellis obtained his Ph.D. in economics from Harvard University and then returned to the University of Maine to teach economics on the Orono campus. From there, he was called to the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston where he first served in the bank's research department and then as its director of research. During this time, he co-authored with Arthur Bright the book, "The Economic State of New England," published by Yale University Press.

In 1961, at the age of 41, Dr. Ellis became president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston and in that capacity served, on a rotating basis with his fellow Fed presidents, on the Fed's Open Market Committee responsible for determining U.S. monetary policy. He served as president of the bank for seven years. At the time of his appointment, he was the youngest person ever appointed president of a Federal Reserve Bank.

Dr. Ellis went from the Boston Federal Reserve Bank presidency to the position of president and CEO of Keystone Mutual Funds and thereafter to the presidency of the Home Savings Bank of Boston. He completed his business career as the chairman of the Board of Central Maine Power. He was the recipient of a number of honorary degrees including ones from Bates College and the University of Massachusetts, and in 2003, he received the University of Maine's lifetime career achievement award.

Dr. Ellis served for many years in leadership positions with the United Church of Christ, including as moderator of the Wellesley Congregational (Village) Church, where he was a member, and as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the United Church of Christ's Pension Board. He was also very active in civic matters in Boston including heading United Way campaigns and serving on the boards of the Greater Boston Development Organization and the University Hospital.

Dr. Ellis was always a strong family man. In 1968, he and Sylvia purchased the farm in Andover that had been in her family for two centuries until it was sold by Sylvia's parents when they retired in 1946. As Dr. and Mrs. Ellis intended, "The Homestead," as it is called, has become a multi-generational family gathering place where groups from church and work have been welcomed for many special occasions over the years.

He is survived by his children, Rebecca Hudspeth and her husband Stephen of Wilton, Conn., son George and his wife Donna of Wellesley, Mass., son Randall and his wife Joyce of Newton, Mass., and daughter Deborah Watts and husband Lee of Wellesley, Mass.; his niece Georgiana Ellis; and six grandchildren. His wife of 47 years, Sylvia Poor Ellis of Andover, predeceased him in 1993. He was also predeceased by his brothers, Gilbert M. Ellis and Ernest R. Ellis.

A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 13, at Wellesley Congregational (Village) Church, Wellesley, Mass., and at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 19, at the First Congregational Church, Andover. The family requests that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to either the Andover Congregational Church, Andover, ME 04216 or the Andover Educational Fund, P.O. Box 32, Andover, ME 04216.

Card of Thanks

Thank you to our family and friends for all the love, prayers, cards, flowers, and food that was sent in during Mom's time in the hospital and after her death. Special thanks to Pastor Larry Hodgkins, and Becky, Pastor Hanson and Mrs. Hanson, Tri-Town Rescue, Stephens Memorial Hospital, all the nurses and Dr. Medd, Andrews Funeral Home, Silver Creations and for the money donated to the church. God bless you all.
